BLUES GUITARIST DAVID M'ORE INTERVIEW – NAMM '16

🕒 FEBRUARY 3, 2016 👤 RADCHAD

Anaheim, Ca: Each year in January NAMM (National Association of Music Merchants) rolls into the Anaheim Convention Center in Orange County, Ca. and with it the NAMM Show has developed into a true international marketplace, with companies from all over the world bringing their latest products and technology to the floor. From music instruments, radio and broadcasting products, to musicians from all walks of life and all the way down to the smallest technological Go DJ system with two turn tables that fits in the palm of your hands.

What I love about NAMM is meeting all the Artist from different genres who come out to show case their talents for the many thousand of attendee's who come from all over just to see someone perform Rock, Metal, R&B and Blues.

David M'ore & RadChad

David M'ore a Rock and Blues guitarist from Argentina who now stays in San Francisco, Ca. area is one of the fascinating musician's I met at NAMM this year. Coming from a poor area of Argentina, David taught himself how to play Rock & Blues (quite well I must add), is now well respected in the blues community playing shows all over the countryside with rave reviews. What grabbed my attention about M'ore and his music is how well it sounded. To me David's music has that Stevie Ray Vaughn kind of attitude which is on display on his latest album.

David was kind enough to sit down with me and talk about what drives him along with his smooth sounding new album "Passion, Soul, & Fire" available now. If you're looking for serious guitar riffing rocking blues guitar solos, than you my friend have come to the right place.

To hear and feel what i'm really talking about, please clink on the interview.

Cheers,

THE RAD MAN....
